
A request crosses the four layers once; the response is serialized by the interceptor before it leaves the API.